NOTES

Košice - the treasure of eastern Slovakia with rich and famous past and present. In 1369 Košice became a first city to receive a coat of arms also oldest Marathon Run in Europe is taking place here every year in October. Lots of historical jewels of architecture can be found there. In neighbourhood of the city could be found a home of Tokay wine. Kosice is a centre of culture, sports and university education. Nowadays is a modern city with beautiful historical old town. You always can find there something to see and nice people keen to help.

Banska Stiavnica: The great deposits of gold and silver ore provided the men with strength to fight the rock, disease, human hostility and turned their adventure into the hard and dangerous mining profession. For more than a thousand years, ore rich in precious metals was mined in the surroundings of Banska Stiavnica. Dozens of tons of gold and thousands of tons of silver left the towns gates. The riches under the ground of Banska Stiavnica were used to erect towns, to finance the opulent existence of the imperial court, to support science, education and culture, and to finance the wars. On 13th December 1762 queen Maria Teresa ordered the establishment of a Mining Academy (the first technical university on the world BERG Academie in Schemnitz, now BanskaStiavnica). December 1993 the historic centre of the town Banska Stiavnica along with the antiquated remnants of the town's mining industry entered the World Heritage List.

Sklene Teplice spa: In September 1786 was presented at smelting Works of Sklene Teplice spa so call european amalgamating, Born's technology. The technology presented professor Anton Ruprecht of Mining Academy (1748-1814). On the presentation of the technology were presented experts all over the world and they established first engineering society on the world Mining Society.

T.G. Delius: 14.sept. 1770 Department of the Mining Academy in Banska Stiavnica was established: Department of theory of mining work. Christopher Traugott Delius (1728-1779) was named on a head of the Department like the third professor of the Academy. Ch. T. Delius lectured whole complex of mining sciences, including mining law, mining economy and statistics. Ch. T. Delius started to write 100 pages textbook Introduction to mining (Anleitung zu der Bergbaukunst...) Textbook was edited in 1773 after his outgoing from the Academy. The book represents the second classical work about mining technology, which by its complexity and mode of presentation achieved in XVIII century the highest level.
